

Visit Vietnam's finest heritage sites and spa resorts

Text and photos: Gérard Michael Müller

With a landscape of scenic mountains, misty forests and 3200 Kilometres of sandy beaches and rocky coastline, Vietnam possesses a natural beauty reviled by its rich heritage.

Saigon and Hanoi are quiet different from each other - like Ying and Yang. Saigon is the place, where the industrialisation took place, while Hanoi is the city of millions of small businesses, the capital of the artisans.

Dalat is in contrast to the exhilarating vibe of Ho Chi Minh City surrounded by peaceful heights. With its cool climate, lakes, parks und agricultural blend, Dalat is an immensely popular destination, particularly among the honey-mooner.

Lover's often gather at the "Valley of Love" to enjoy the views over Xuang Huong Lake. It is a peaceful city in the Annamese mountain range and boast a romantic European atmosphere. 1500 meters above sea level, around lake whisper-Sea, you will find nice Colonial-style houses, surrounded by enchanting parks, emerald- green rice-terraces and everywhere plantations to grow wine, coffee and tea and many other fruits, vegetables and flowers.

One of the best places to rest is located in a huge forest garden and called the Ana Mandara Resort & Six Senses Spa, which is offering French style Villas with a romantic fireplace, a cool Bar where you can enjoy lovely Vietnamese wine and a Restaurant where you can dine divinely like in France.

"Intelligent luxury" à la Six Senses Spa

Nha Thrang's seven kilometres long, palm-lined sandy beach makes the waterfront retreat city very popular amongst the Vietnamese. The leisurely pace and idyllic scenery, makes the buzzing city a refreshing and destination for international travellers as a cool hideaway. Nha Trang's islet-studded bay is picture perfect with the colourful fishing boats. A wide boulevard rides along the beach front with all the luxury hotels from elegant styled villas to upscale hotels. The most luxurious Hotel is the Ana Mandara Hotel, which lies like a pearl in an oasis in the middle of the busy city directly at the beach of Nha Trang offering each guest a high end locally styled villa of tranquillity and peace.

On a peninsula near Nha Trang, one of Asia's finest spa and beach resort, Evason Hideaway, is situated in a beautiful bay surrounded by lush green forest on the foothill of the mountains.

The philosophy of the spa is a so-called "intelligent luxury", which means, that there is a strong environmental commitment and also a social benefit for the locals.

Hoi An - the Venetia of Vietnam - attracts tourist with the old Japanese and Chinese styled trading houses. Founded by the Japanese traders in the 16th century, Hoi An was once Vietnams most important port and trading centre.

Today it is a quiet, charming fishing village, full of history, and still reflects the influence of the Asian traders. Most of the buildings and temples are dated back to the 17th century and represent the Colonial epoch.

Together with Hue, the Imperial City set on the banks of the "Perfume River", is known for its prestigious collection of ancient palaces, Pa-godas and Boulevards a World Heritage site and one of Vietnams most popular destinations.

A Boat trip on the river is the best way to get a good overview of the historical sites.

The Nam Hai show's the Gold rush in Vietnam

When you arrive in Danang and drive to Hoi An, then you will probably enjoy one of the most luxurious resort, that Vietnam has ever seen – the Nam Hai. The new pearl of the GHM-Hotels is situated on a long sandy beach and stretches out on 35 hectare of land. The Nam Hai features a new standard of 5-star luxury hotel in Vietnam with 60 beautiful villas and 40 pool-villas. Each villa occupying its own section of landscaped gardens and boast views of the South China Sea and nearby Cham Islands.

Beyond the reception area you will discover over the reflecting swimming pool two more swimming pools near the sandy beach of Ha My. During the American war it was called "China Beach". This is today one of Vietnam's last luxury resorts, minds away from the depths of its own culture.
